Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the role of AI Engineer at Sonder.

I play Ultimate Frisbee and the best team in Sydney is called Sunder. For years I have been trying to get selected on Sunder; your company name is hilariously close.

Banter aside, I am a fresh UNSW Computer Science, AI stream graduate looking to join the work-force.

Upon watching your video, I was impressed by the emphasis on core company values, and the growth prospects that Sonder has to offer.

I would be particularly thrilled to lend my expertise to this company because it seems like my competencies will be rewarded and encouraged. I am interested in Bayesian Inference and learning from data in general.

My lack of work experience and internships can be apportioned to spending time earning entry into the Masters of Statistics at UNSW, and my strong theoretical knowledge should eventually dominate ( $\mathcal{O}(n)$ ) corporate experience.

I play team sports and believe strongly in communication and teams being greater than the sum of their parts.

Finally, my technical skills align very closely with the requirements of your listing:

- CI/CD
- Node.js, Java, Python
- React, Vue
- PyTorch, Tensorflow
- SQL

I'd also be interested in working at your company for a longer period of time on account of this benefit "2 days study leave".

Please remember to explore the CV in all it's  $\text{\LaTeX}$  glory (click on the RedViolet links), and I hope to continue our conversation in an interview.

Sincerely,

Aayush Bajaj
